Defense Handled Well, Efficiently, Ike Asserts

Summit Parley Disadvantage Idea Discounted

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Wednesday brushed aside questions of a U. S. missile lag and declared: "I am not in the slightest degree disturbed."

Eisenhower, the very picture of confidence, assured a news conference that when he enters summit talks with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, he won't go in with any feeling of inferiority.

"I believe," he said, "that the matter of defense has been handled well and efficiently."

Eisenhower took his position in a lively discussion that ranged from Soviet rocket tests in the Pacific to the question of whether the 1960 Republican political campaign needs whipping up. It was his first news conference since Dec. 2.

The President almost lost his temper—his face and neck turned red—when he was thrown a question he took to imply that the nation's national security is being handled as a partisan political matter.

"I don't have to be partisan," the former five-star general said in a clipped, precise way, "and I want to tell you this;

"I've spent my life in this, and I know more about it than almost anybody. I think, that is in the country, and on a basis of doing what is good for the government and for the country."

Most of the conference was on an easier, calmer plane.

Eisenhower, dressed in a gray suit complete with vest and wearing a polka dot tie that looked as though he had taken little trouble with the knot, handled such questions as these:

ROCKET TEST — "It would seem very unusual for us to make a protest (against Soviet tests in the Pacific) when we have done the same thing ourselves and intend to do it again."

Understatement

CAMPAIGN—The withdrawal of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller from the Republican presidential nominating contest "does give a certain atmosphere of no competition. That understatement brought laughter, and so did another Eisenhower observation that it was well-known he had no competition for the nomination in 1956 and "I don't see that it hurt that election particularly."

RIGHTS—He was asked about a plan backed by some Northern Democrats for appointing federal voting registrars in areas where Negroes claim state officials won't let them register. Eisenhower replied, "I don't even know whether it is constitutional. He asked instead for action first on civil rights legislation he presented last year, now residing in the House Rules Committee."

DEMOTED—Alexei I. Kirichenko (above), one of Premier Nikita Khrushchev's proteges, has been named to the job of a small town Community Party chief in the Rostov-on-Don region, it was announced yesterday in Moscow. Manner in which announcement was made led to speculation that he may have been fired as a member of the Party Presidium of the Soviet Union.

20 Underworld Kingpins Given Prison Terms

NEW YORK (AP)—Twenty underworld delegates to the Apalachin convention were sentenced Wednesday to prison terms ranging from three to a maximum of five years. The judge said their backgrounds and shady activities constituted "a tale of horrors."

The defendants were described in court as two-faced—outwardly respectable businessmen, active in charitable and civic projects, but actually criminal leaders or fronts for underworld kingpins.

One of the 20, John C. Montana, is a former Buffalo, N.Y., city councilman and onetime "man of the year" in that city. He got four years.

Eleven of the defendants got the maximum five years plus a fine of $10,000 each. Four got five years, but no fines. Two got four years and fines of $10,000 each. Two got a straight four years. One drew three years.

It was one of the stiffest mass blows ever delivered by the government against the membership of the organized criminal syndicate in this country.

None of the defendants, convicted Dec. 18 by a U.S. District Court jury, was immediately put behind bars. Instead, they were allowed to remain free on bail while they appeal their convictions.

The appeal is expected to test a facet of the federal conspiracy law under which the men were convicted. The government has hailed it as a new, potent weapon against the underworld.

The 20 were convicted of defying the law by conspiring to conceal the purpose of their gathering in 1957 at the Upstate New York home of the late Joseph Barbara Sr. The government claimed deliberate lies and evasions contributed to the cloak of silence that enveloped the crime convention.

The government attributed sinister motives to the Apalachin meeting. The delegates called it a social get-together.

Quake Devastates Peruvian City; 38 Killed, 200 Injured

Historic Arequipa Mass Of Ruins

LIMA, Peru, (UPI)—At least 38 persons were killed and more than 200 injured Wednesday in an earthquake which devastated Arequipa, Peru's second largest city, the Peruvian Red Cross reported.

Relief officials said 31 of the 38 bodies recovered from the ruins of downtown Arequipa had been identified. They were fearful that the death toll would mount as the search of debris continued.

The Red Cross report came at 5 p.m., some six and a half hours after the mid-morning shock. At that time, Arequipa still was without drinking water and telephone and electric light services were out in most of the city.

The darkness was hampering rescue teams searching downtown ruins. Rescuers were making their way laboriously through great piles of rubble.

The highest tower of the Santo Domingo church crumbled under the shock. Tower of the historic La Compania church swayed perilously. A bridge collapsed in the Tiabaya district.

First reports from the mining center of Acari, some 200 miles north of Arequipa, said rumors of major damage there were exaggerated. Canele, 80 miles south of Lima, reported alarm but no casualties or damage.

The government rushed emergency medical aid by plane to the stricken region, some 500 miles southeast of Lima. The earth tremor was registered on seismographs as far away as Chile, Mexico and the United States.

Most of Peru was shaken by the sharp minute-long tremor. But historic Arequipa, nestling at the foot of Misti Volcano, was said to be hardest hit.

Downtown Arequipa was reported in ruins. The city was said to be without light, water or telephone service. Roads leading into town were blocked by landslides.

The tremor was reported as stronger than that of Jan. 15, 1958, in which 21 persons were killed and 90 injured in Arequipa. Many of the buildings which collapsed Wednesday were those whose foundations were weakened by the shock exactly two years ago. People were making their beds for the night in the streets.

Payola, Airline Safety And Food Law Probes Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional inquiries were set up Wednesday into radio-TV payola, jet age airline safety, and the law on food additives which set off the cranberry scare last fall.

They were announced by Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark) as chairman of both the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee and its parent Commerce Committee.

The food additive hearing was scheduled for Jan. 26.

Harris said the subcommittee will begin its long-awaited radio-TV investigation about Feb. 8. He said the group will go into all phases of payola—under-the-table payment to disc jockeys and others for plugging music and other commodities on the air.

Evicted Couple's Trash Treasure Reaches $40,000

DETROIT (AP)—The junk pile treasure of Anthony Ketko, 68, and his wife, Agatha, 62, mounted to a possible $40,000 Wednesday.

Astonished police dug it out—bill by bill, bond by bond—from two truckloads of rubbish and dusty paraphernalia removed from the Ketkos' littered apartment.

Discovery of the hoard followed upon service of an eviction order against the couple.

At Receiving Hospital Tuesday, Mrs. Ketko was found to have $500 pinned to her clothing.

One day's search of the apartment turned up more than $20,000 in cash securities and bank accounts and Wednesday's second endeavor uncovered some $20,000 more tucked away in among various odds and ends of the junk.

The heavily bearded Ketko, who looks like an Old Testament prophet, is being treated at a hospital for malnutrition.

Later both Ketko and his wife are to be placed in a convalescent home and a guardian appointed for them, a social worker said.

As they continued to count the hidden wealth, police had yet to learn how the Ketkos came by their money. Mrs. Ketko has been a charwoman. Her husband, found ill in their apartment, has been unemployed.

Baumgartner Replaces Pinay

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle dropped Antoine Pinay as finance minister Wednesday rather than let him exercise a veto over Gaullist economic policy.

A conservative who revived an ailing French economy, Pinay had quarreled with Premier Michel Debre and some of his ministers, insisting they were swinging toward the left the economic policy Pinay founded.

In Pinay's stead, De Gaulle named Wilfrid S. Baumgartner, 57, governor of the Bank of France and a financial wizard in his own right. Baumgartner's financial orthodoxy equals Pinay's, but he is considered somewhat more flexible.

The switch followed days of political suspense which wobbled the stock market as vain efforts were made to have Pinay patch his quarrel with Debre and the Cabinet's Gaullists.

Pinay said he is quitting political life. He is a former premier.

300 Hawaiian Villagers Flee Raging Volcano

KAPOHO, Hawaii, (UPI) —The 300 residents of Kapoho village fled Wednesday after volcanic earthquakes split the streets and an imminent outburst of fiery lava was feared.

Officials declared Kapoho a disaster area. It lies in the Puna district, in which live some 6,700 persons who could be endangered by a general eruption.

The area on the slopes of Kilauea Mountain, a live volcano, was the scene of a damaging lava flow that began on Feb. 28, 1955, and continued sporadically for 89 days.

Quakes jolted Kapoho at the rate of five a minute Wednesday and seismologists said a repetition of the 1955 flow could occur at any moment.

Cracks 10 to 12 inches wide opened in village streets and one 18-inch crack extended across the center of the village. A home was damaged as the earth split beneath it.

Gov. William F. Quinn left his office in Honolulu to fly 200 miles by National Guard plane to the Puna district about 15 miles from Hilo.

The 1955 eruption damaged two homes in the village and caused millions of dollars damage as lava rolled through farm lands.

Army and civilian trucks moved the villagers to Pahoia school in a nearby town after Hawaii County Chairman Thomas C. Cooke declared Kapoho a disaster area.

Scientists at the Hawaii Volcano Observatory said another eruption could occur at any time. Recent eruptions have been confined to Kilauea Iki crater. Kapoho is outside the crater, on the slopes of volcanic Mauna Loa.

Top Protege Of Premier Is Demoted

Ruling Presidium Dissolves Internal Affairs Ministry

MOSCOW, Thursday, (UPI) — The Soviet Union early Thursday announced that control of its MVD forces, which once ran Soviet prison camps, will be scattered among the 15 separate Soviet republics.

The MVD originally encompassed the powerful secret police and functioned under many names. MVD troops presently include Soviet frontier guards, local police and administrative personnel of Soviet prisons.

Earlier, the Reds announced the firing of the man generally regarded as Premier Nikita Khrushchev's right-hand man from his high Communist Party posts. Alexei Kirichenko, one of six party Central Committee secretaries, a Khrushchev protege and member of the party's ruling Presidium, was named to the job of regional party secretary in the city of Rostov.

Parliament Meets

The surprise announcements came on the eve of the first 1960 session of the Supreme Soviet (parliament) later Thursday and which has been described as "unusually important."

First, the Communist Party newspaper Pravda startled Moscow by disclosing that Alexei Kirichenko had been elected to a new post, that of Regional Party Secretary in the distant city of Rostov in southeastern Russia.

With the switch, Kirichenko also apparently was released from his membership in the party's ruling Presidium and from his important position as Secretary of the Communist party's Central Committee. There are six such secretaries, with Khrushchev as First Secretary.

Responsibilities Shifted

Later, a brief dispatch by the official Soviet news agency Tass said the responsibilities of the Ministry of Internal Affairs in Moscow were shifted to the ministries of internal affairs of the 15 republics that make up the Soviet Union.

The Tass announcement said only that the switch was made by the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet, on the recommendation of the Council of Ministers.

(The Tass dispatch gave no explanation of what dissolution of the Internal Affairs Ministry meant. But observers noted that this ministry controls the internal security agencies, including the secret police, and it could mean a further step in the decentralization of authority which has been followed in the Soviet Union in recent years, especially in the economic and industrial fields.)

By a late hour Wednesday there was no official announcement of the ousting of Kirichenko, a virtual protege of Khrushchev's. But it was obvious he was out of his jobs in the Communist Party hierarchy.

Joint Western Economic Aid Plan Is Approved

PARIS, Thursday (UPI)—The mission to coordinate a plan for United States, Canada and the joint Western aid to underdeveloped principal European trading nations agreed early Thursday to meet the growing economic challenge in an Atlantic economic conference from the Soviet Union in unity for closer aid-and-trade this field.

The commission includes the United States, Canada, Britain, France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Portugal and the Common Market representatives.

—To work for a broad international Atlantic economic organization or council which will harmonize Western trade policies when it is established in about 18 months.

The nine-member aid commission would be linked to this council to work closely with it when it is set up.

—To name a panel of experts, of three or possibly four men, to draft recommendations on the type and scope of the projected new Atlantic organization. The panel of experts will do so in close consultation with the members of the Organization of European Economic Cooperation (OEEC), which is now in existence.

The projected Atlantic organization may resemble the OEEC, but would be revamped to allow the United States and Canada to be full members. At present, they are only associate members of the OEEC.

Winter Storm Batters Europe

LONDON (AP)—Freezing temperatures and widespread snowstorms snarled road and rail traffic Wednesday in this winter's first full-scale assault on Europe.

Three persons froze to death on the Continent. Most countries reported a sharp increase in traffic accidents.

Snow, ice, rain and freezing winds made Britain's roads as slick as skating rinks. Six inches of snow fell in southeastern Kent.

Some of Norway's fiords were frozen. Belgium, the Netherlands and most of West Germany reported bright cold weather. But Bavaria and Austria had heavy snowfalls.

The French Riviera was chilly and heavy snows were reported in mountain areas.

San Marino, the mountaintop republic in central Italy, was isolated by seven feet of snow.

Winds piled up snow drifts as deep as 12 feet in some places in Yugoslavia.

Hagerstown Industry Aid Group Organized

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—Hagerstown's business and civic interests have organized an industrial development financing corporation to help finance the move of new industries to the area.

Joseph Baylis, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said "immediate steps are being undertaken to raise funds from all citizens and businesses in Washington County who wish to have a part in assisting their city and county to regain their economic stability."

The new corporation is being capitalized at a million dollars. Baylis said $200,000 would be needed immediately.

The money would be used to help new or established industries which need financial assistance to get started. Then the money would be repaid by the firms after they become established.

Hagerstown's financial picture has grown bleaker within the last several months. Its principal single employer, Fairchild Airplane and Engine Co., is down to about 3,000 employees after a peacetime high a couple of years ago of 8,000 to 9,000.

Hopkins Becomes Center Of Battle Against Leprosy

BALTIMORE (AP)—The United States in addition to protecting the free world against military aggression also must serve as a physician to its ailments, Dr. Joseph E. Smedley said Wednesday.

Dr. Smedley, associate director of the National Institutes of Health, spoke at the formal transfer of the medical world's fight against leprosy from Harvard to the Johns Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health.

"We must," he said, "recognize the fact that our nation has inherited responsibilities for providing means of improving the health of the free world as we have inherited responsibilities for providing means for their military defense."

Hopkins opened a new laboratory replacing one which the Leonard Wood Memorial (American Leprosy Foundation) has operated for the past 13 years at the Harvard Medical School.

The shift was made to take advantage of the experience and knowledge of the many nationalities studying at the Hopkins medical facilities.

The laboratory was moved here by its director, Dr. John H. Hanks, who has been affiliated with the Leonard Wood Memorial for 20 years, and studied leprosy in the Philippines.

Balloon Shot Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bad weather forced a 24-hour postponement Wednesday in the planned launching of a 100-foot-high inflatable balloon type vehicle.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the attempt to launch the sphere from its Wallops Island, Va., research station, will be made Thursday at 5:30 p. m. if weather conditions are good.

Milton's Name Stays On Ballot

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—Declaring that he is not a candidate, President Eisenhower's brother, Milton, Wednesday attempted to take his name out of New Hampshire's first-in-the-nation presidential primary.

But the name of Dr. Milton Eisenhower will remain on the March 8 ballot unless his lone sponsor chooses to remove it. Under New Hampshire law, Eisenhower is powerless to remove it.

Former Federal Judge Albert Levitt injected Eisenhower's name into the primary last week by filing as a candidate for a GOP convention seat "favorable" to the president of Johns Hopkins University.

Any candidate for a delegate post is free to run as "favorable" to anyone, regardless of whether his choice is an actual or potential presidential contender.

In a letter to deputy Secretary of State Robert L. Stark, the President's brother said Levitt acted "without my foreknowledge."

"If I had been asked in advance, I would have expressed firm disapproval," he said.

"Under no circumstances can I be considered a candidate," Eisenhower wrote.

New Job For Thor

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Air Force announced Wednesday that the test program for its intermediate-range Thor has ended and that the missile soon will be used to try out a new space engine.

The engine, if successful, will be used to carry small payloads into orbit and deep into space. It will not match the thrust of the U.S. Atlas missile or the huge power of Soviet rocket space vehicles.

Saturn Rocket Will Get Mightier Upper Stages

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Saturn vehicle, main U.S. hope for outstripping the Soviet Union in the space race, will be made more powerful than first planned. But it probably will drag further behind the original development schedule.

This was indicated Wednesday in a brief government announcement that the Army Ballistic Missile Agency at Huntsville, Ala., had been authorized to proceed with the development of mightier upper stages for the basic Saturn booster, a rocket cluster expected to generate 1½ million pounds of thrust.

Indications were that all the new stages would use liquid hydrogen, a hard-to-handle but potent fuel that would greatly increase the space rocket's thrust.

This increased thrust could be translated either into larger and heavier payloads—stationary earth satellites weighing up to four tons, for example—or into greater range in probing space.

The Saturn, as originally planned, would have used a Titan missile as a booster engine. This burns a kerosene-type rocket fuel and liquid oxygen.

It was conceded that elimination of the soon-to-be available Titan booster might somewhat retard the Saturn program.

But experts said the added power of the new stages would make possible more ambitious space launchings earlier than was first planned.

Despite some controversial amendments to be offered, Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.), told newsmen there was a possibility the Senate could complete action on the bill by staying late Friday.

The elections reform measure, rewriting the 1925 Corrupt Practices Act, was worked out by the Senate Rules Committee in what Hennings, the chairman, called a spirit of compromise.

In the next 65 years, the earth's population is expected to double to five billion if the present birth rate continues.

Seven Trapped Hour In Hotel Elevator

WASHINGTON (AP)—Seven persons were trapped for nearly an hour in a Sheraton Park Hotel elevator Wednesday.

J. E. Johnston of Salt Lake City, assistant director of the Utah Highway Department, said he and six others were in the elevator shortly after noon when it stuck near the second floor level.

The seven, including six men and a woman, finally escaped on a ladder lowered through an opening in the top of the elevator.

Malik Replaced

LONDON (UPI)—Stony-faced Jacob Malik, one of Russia's top diplomats, has been replaced as ambassador to Great Britain, Tass reported Wednesday.

U. Of Md. Grant Approved Hospital Fund Drive Continues

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Urban Renewal Administration announced Wednesday that the federal government has approved a grant of $4,363,299 toward expansion of the University of Maryland's city campus.

The federal money will go toward clearance of 19 acres adjoining the downtown campus. The first phase approved by the federal government provides for clearance of about five acres next to the dental school. A gymnasium and other recreational facilities will be erected on the tract bounded by Greene, Lombard, Pratt and Penn streets.

Cattle Sale Proceeds Embazzler Sentenced

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP)—Carl M. Peddersen, former manager of a Poolesville farm, was sentenced Tuesday to three years in prison on a charge of embezzling the proceeds of a cattle sale.

Peddersen, 42, was found guilty by a jury last Wednesday of embezzling $11,979 from a 1956 sale of cattle from the farm of his employer, Ringgold Hart, a Washington lawyer.

Peddersen claimed at the trial that the money he took was owed him by Hart.

Md. Farmers Told Costs To Continue Up In 1960

BALTIMORE (AP)—Maryland Farm Bureau opened a four-day farmers' convention Wednesday that they can expect no relief from their steadily rising costs in the "soaring 60s."

"Farm expenses in the state have been increasing one to three per cent each year and are expected to continue to rise," said Arthur Hamilton of the Agricultural Economics Department at the University of Maryland.

"When the new agreement between labor unions and the steel companies was signed, we could think of inflation and say 'here we go again.'"

"Costs will now continue to rise. We are now in the soaring 60s," Hamilton said the farmers' costs are tied to the national cost picture "like a basket to a balloon."

He spoke to the Maryland Crop Improvement Assn. as the Mary-

Four Strikers Found Innocent In Disturbance

SALISBURY (AP)—Four striking employees of a moving and storage company were found innocent Wednesday of charges growing out of a labor disturbance.

The four were arrested last Friday after two non-strikers told police they were set upon by a group of strikers at a freight station.

All are employees of Dennis Moving and Storage Co., now in the 10th day of a strike by 14 members of Local 107, Highway Truck Drivers and Helpers Union. The walkout involves a dispute over contract terms.

Judge Homer Disharoon said in People's Court that the evidence favored the four defendants: Elmer Adkins, 47, and his son Thomas Adkins, 20, both of Princess Anne, and Frankie Moore, 32, and Robert Williams, 29, both of Salisbury.

They were charged with malicious destruction of property and disorderly conduct. In addition, Williams was charged with assault.

The judge said he was convinced a crime had been committed but he said the evidence showed that the four men could have been the victims of mistaken identity.

The four men were arrested shortly after the disturbance last Friday on writs sworn by Stanley Evans of Princess Anne and Robert L. Walters of Salisbury, two non-strikers.

Evans and Walters told police that a group of strikers blocked their way as they were leaving the Pennsylvania Railroad freight station here. The two men said the strikers broke a window in Walters' car and tried to pull Evans from the car.

U. Md. Bomb Scare

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—The Air Force unit at the University of Maryland had a bomb scare Wednesday.

A telephone caller told the university switchboard that a bomb had been placed in the armory. A search by faculty of the Reserve Officers Training Corps and campus police failed to find it.

The average rate of growth of the fingernails is a little more than one and one-half inches a year.

South End Business Group To Expand

A reorganization of the South Cumberland Business Men's Association was effected at a dinner meeting Tuesday at Grace Methodist Church.

George O. Hollar, retiring president, said the major change will be in name only, to the South Cumberland Business and Civic Association, since the organization primarily has been civic in nature.

Hollar said the change in name was made in an effort to attract a larger membership. Many residents of the South Cumberland area have declined to join in years past with the explanation that they were not engaged in business, he stated.

Reatus L. Spiker was named chairman of a membership campaign that will be launched in the near future. Hollar adding that other members will be appointed by the board of directors. Goal of the drive is 500 members, nearly triple the present membership. A brochure is being prepared for the membership campaign, Hollar said, explaining that it will contain information on accomplishments of the organization during its 10 years of existence, as well as aims for the next five years.

The meeting also featured an election of officers. Robert P. Keech was named to succeed Hollar as president. Others elected were Dr. L. R. McKenzie, vice president; Lawrence Marks, recording secretary; G. O. Hollar, financial secretary, and Thomas Whalley, treasurer.

Elected to the board of directors were C. William Dailey, Carl Amtower, Harry Shobe, Paul Shircliffe, Harry Wilson and Henry Herold.

Rev. Louis Emerick spoke on "Juvenile Delinquency" during the dinner program.

College Choir Will Present Concert Feb. 8

Permission was granted Tuesday by the Allegany County Board of Education for the use of the Fort Hill High School auditorium on the night of Monday, February 8, for a concert by the Gettysburg (Pa.) College choir.

This concert will be presented under the sponsorship of the United Lutheran Men of Allegany County.

The school board also heard a protest by Robert H. Herboldsheimer, a former teacher at Mt. Savage School, about the use of a particular reporting form. Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster said this form is used on a state-wide basis.

Mr. Webster and J. Goodloe Jackson, board president, who attended the third annual Maryland Conference on Education November 19 and 20 in Baltimore, discussed in some detail the topic of that meeting, "Balanced Partnership—A Program of Finance For Education For Our Times."

The proposed plan of finance, as explained by Dr. Wesley Dorn of the State Department of Education staff, would raise the state's participation to 50 per cent on a state-wide basis, each local unit's percentage share to depend on its relative tax ability and educational need. At present the state shares only in the cost of a minimum program of education whereas it should share in the total cost of education as authorized by law.

13th Commander

NEW LONDON, Conn. (UPI) — Rear Adm. Lawrence R. Dasplit Wednesday became the 13th commander of the submarine force, U.S. Atlantic Fleet. Dasplit took command of the base from Rear Adm. Frederick B. Damaged W.Va. Bridge To Be Repaired

The State Road Commission of West Virginia announced plans yesterday to replace the span of the Buzzard Ford bridge across the South Branch of the Potomac River which collapsed Christmas Day when a motorist crashed into the side of the structure.

A bridge in Jackson County is being dismantled, according to Commissioner Patrick C. Graneey and this will provide a span to replace the one which collapsed in the river near Moorefield. Two other spans were undamaged and will take about three months, Graneey said.

Public Health Nurse To Address PTA

A meeting of the Virginia Avenue School PTA will be held today at 7:30 p. m. at the school.

Room visitations will be held from 7 to 7:30 p. m. and Mrs. Mary Jane Harden, a public health nurse with the County Health Department, will speak at the meeting.

Mrs. Julia Sheeche, the new public health nurse for the South Cumberland area and for the school, will be introduced to the PTA unit.

A pie and coffee social will follow the meeting.

will take about three months, Graneey said.

A petition signed by about 400 residents affected by the bridge closing was sent to the commission last week asking that a temporary span be erected to provide service to the area.

Graneey said it was decided not to build a temporary span as the flood season is coming in the spring and high waters would wash out such a structure. He also said the time required to erect a temporary structure would be as long as the replacement project. The cost also would be rather heavy for a temporary project, he added.

The bridge carried traffic to the communities of Fisher, Kesel and Rig and since it was closed due to the one span which collapsed the residents of the affected area had to make a detour of approximately 13 miles to get to Moorefield and other sections of the district.

An interesting fact in the fatal accident report compiled by Mrs. Vivian Turley, clerk at the Mary-land State Police barracks in La-Valle, is that the counties were free of highway fatalities during the holiday weekends when most deaths occur throughout the nation. Lt. W. E. O'Hara, commander of the Lavalie barracks, said following: January 16, Richard Bray Wil-son, 21, Barton, car struck bridge during the year, especially over the holiday weekends. Lt. YOU! Perhaps you need glasses just part of the time, for reading or the theater. Or you want another prove your vision but make kind of extra pair. Then, consid-er the little half-glasses (the bet-have b-en overlooking the cos-metic character of functional frames that will flatter your face and fit in with your fashion in hair and hats.

To discover the right class of glasses for you, study yourself. Does your face have a large out-line, generous features? Then, large and generous glasses are for you; bold squared frames in tortoise-shell will play up your eyes.

For a small, close-featured face, the frames should be small and delicate to match. A face that wants an uplift around the eyes should peek at its peaked-up appearance in modified harle-quin specs.

Next, study your habits in hats. If you wear hats a lot, you will want to keep them fairly simple in line and design, little fuss, no face veil. If you hat yourself in-frequently or not at all, if com-plexed hairdos and jewelry won't conflict, you can see your-self in dramatic eyeglass frames

Expansion Capital Is Badly Needed

One of the many records set in the decade now behind us was in the amount of capital plowed into replacement and expansion of machinery and buildings by American business. More than $300 billion was reinvested from profits in the last 10 years to replace obsolete equipment, extend existent facilities and start new factories.

This was a remarkable record in a decade which created the highest individual as well as industrial tax rates in history, and thereby robbed the free enterprise system of a large portion of its growth potential. What could have been, had corporate taxes been less than 52 per cent and personal taxes lower than the present 20 to 90 per cent scale, is indicated by what was accomplished after government overhead was accounted for.

With the growth of big government and the resultant removal from productive work of one of every seven employed persons, the tax load has become one of the heaviest burdens on industry. It is a major cause of the inflationary trend.

Viewed in light of the relative buying power of the dollar from the beginning to the end of the 10-year period, the $300 billion expansion program boils down to about $250 billion. This is still a sizable piece of change, but is it enough?

Industrial surveys indicate $37 billion will be spent during 1960 for replacing obsolescence and in expansion programs—more than twice the sum spent in 1949. There is, however, a certain liability connected with the growth of a nation's industrial might in that the need for more dollars to modernize and maintain efficiency in existent factories alone grows with the economy.

Thus it is imperative that a growing industrial society put aside more profits each year for present and future investment. Any other course automatically rules out modernization, expansion—or both.

Sugar And Coffee

The principle of subsidizing a nation out of the pockets of the American people, not by taxes but by agreeing to increase the price of that country's commodity in our stores, is wrong. It places upon the American people a heavy but hidden burden. When Americans buy sugar, they do not realize that they are subsidizing Cuba because Americans pay more than the world market price; when they buy a pound of coffee and pay an outrageous price for that commodity, they do not know that they are paying a hidden tax to aid the economy of such countries as Brazil and Colombia.

All reports establish that there is a surplus of coffee and by the law of supply and demand, the price of coffee should decrease sharply. However, by market rigging and price manipulation, the price of coffee is kept high. This is policy designed to aid the coffee-growing countries. It is the economics of the "Good Neighbor Policy."

But the American consumer was never asked whether he wanted his coffee to cost so much that he has to drink the new style powdery stuff that provides more cups of coffee per pound. This is an ingenious method of beating the high price of coffee.

As things stand, the United States is subsidizing the Castro government in Cuba by paying a higher price for sugar than sugar costs in world markets. We are doing the same with coffee. It is one thing, having an item in the budget, including it formally and legally in an aid program against which a protest is possible in Congress; it is another loading it on the price. The gimmick used in the matter of sugar and coffee is to tell the people nothing but to make a deal with a country to fix a price for a commodity which Americans like to buy. How false such a policy is became clear in the conduct of Fidel Castro who despite the fact that the American government is subsidizing Cuba through the price of sugar, operates an absolutely anti-American government. Do we need to subsidize our enemies, too?

As regards coffee, no coffee country is our enemy, but is that a reason to subsidize this product? To what extent is the American household to be taxed? And how is it possible for the American people not to become demoralized by the enormous burden of taxation, high cost of living, subsidy prices? How is it possible for the American worker not to lose his incentive not only to create but to work?

This then is the major problem of this campaign year and the politicians ought not to be permitted to confuse us with side and unimportant issues. If prices continue to rise, we shall have an increasing number of strikes. These strikes occur during a period of the devaluation of the currency and thereby endanger the value of the dollar. The basic peril to the United States, at this particular moment in our history, is not bombs or missiles or rockets but the value of the dollar—that is, what happens to our money.

As long as candidates talk poppy-cock and the people accept the loose talk, the loss to the people will be great. If the candidates can be pinned down to discuss money—our money—what it is worth, what it can buy, what it can buy abroad, how it affects the prices of our goods at home and abroad—unless the candidates speak about that, they are ducking the essential issue of our period.

It is usual for candidates to avoid unpleasant subjects. They prefer to deal with questions to which there can be a happy answer. There can be no happy answer, no glib reply, no avoidance of facts concerning the dollar. But it is that one question that will control our foreign policy and that will control all domestic affairs during the next few years. When we outpace our goods in world markets, foreign goods will be purchased. If we outpace our goods in domestic markets, foreign goods will be purchased. If we put a high tariff on foreign goods, it will affect the balance of trade and less American goods will be purchased. If we devalue the dollar, we can destroy the economic stability of the entire Western world and open the way for Soviet supremacy in the economic field. Therefore this issue cannot be dodged in this campaign.

Liab!e To Start Trying That Quack

Kennedy Still Faces Many Crucial Tests

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON
Not long ago, the backers of Sen. Stuart Symington were cast down into the dumps of gloom, and the camp of Sen. John F. Kennedy was filled with a glow of hope, by a simple statement from Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago.

In this statement, which got almost no national attention, Mayor Daley merely indicated that he would not be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the Governorship of Illinois. The Kennedy backers had been praying for just this statement, and the Symingtonites had been praying, even harder, for a statement in just the opposite sense.

They both had good cause to pray too. Mayor Daley was known to feel that it would be too much of a good thing to ask the Illinois citizenry to vote for a Catholic Democratic Governor and a Catholic Democratic Presidential nominee as well. If the Catholic Mayor had decided to stand for the Governorship, in other words, the Symingtonites' claims to the large Illinois convention delegation might well have been made good. Instead, the Mayor's withdrawal opened the way for Kennedy in Illinois.

Symington's Illinois backers, the downstate leaders John Stelle and William Powell, made a brief, convulsive effort to repair the damage by securing the gubernatorial nomination for another Catholic candidate. But they were quickly over-riden in the state committee. The committee decided, over the weekend, to endorse the candidacy of County Judge Otto Koerner, a big Illinois vote-getter, a war hero, and a Protestant.

With Koerner and Sen. Paul Douglas heading the state ticket, Mayor Daley will now be ideally placed to give Kennedy the 45 to 55 Illinois delegates whom he will control. Later on, in short, the recent developments in Illinois may add up to another break for Kennedy almost equal to his handsome gain in Ohio.

But this potential break for Kennedy is a symbol, not just of his high hopes, but also of the grave risks that he must still run to gain the great prize. Mayor Daley is highly unlikely to make any commitment until Kennedy has proven himself in the state primaries. Hence the battle for the highly important majority group in the big Illinois delegation is likely to be decided, not in Illinois at all, but in Wisconsin's crucial primary.

On the subject of the Wisconsin primary, there is a deep split in the Kennedy camp. The two leading political professionals who are pledged to Kennedy, Connecticut's Gov. Abraham Ribicoff and Democratic State Chairman John Bailey, have long been insisting that Kennedy must go into Wisconsin. The risk of losing there, they argue, is much less than the risk of making nonsense of the Kennedy claim that he is ready to take on all comers in primary fights.

Sen. Kennedy's closest adviser, the head of his personal staff, Theodore Sorenson, is known to feel just the other way about the risks in Wisconsin. A poll in "depth" recently taken in the state on Kennedy's behalf indicates the reasons, both for Sorenson's caution, and for Bailey's

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

DEMOCRATIC VIEW—Sam Brightman, long-time publicity chief for the Democratic National Committee, was being interviewed on the prospects of various candidates of his party for the Presidential nomination.

In somber tones he predicted that a "wildly cheering Democratic convention will nominate by acclamation the next President of the United States—a man who will give the nation the bold, courageous, energetic, skillful, dynamic leadership which will unite our people to march forward to our national destiny."

Then he added, with a broad grin, "I sure wish I knew his name."

NEW ERA—With the new year ushering in the decade of the 1960s, the Washington air seems filled with anticipation—there appears to be a lot of looking forward, little in the way of backward glances.

Yet, the 1950s were years of momentous developments which probably will play a major role in the course of events in the new decade. Perhaps the most outstanding achievement was negative in nature—the success in keeping a new war from breaking out in the face of all sorts of stresses and strains in the international community.

The biggest question on the minds of Washington officials is whether the 1960s will be able to steer a course which will also avoid a major war.

The United States is standing on the threshold of truly immense developments in science, medicine, social improvements, economic well being. American and world leaders will determine whether mankind will benefit or be deeply hurt by events to come.

Dr. Doyle Lacked Patients, Became Author

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

After physicians hang up their shingle begins the tedious task of building up a practice. Some are lucky whereas others wait and wait for weeks and months. Sir Arthur Conan Doyle wrote some of his famous detective stories in his consultation room while waiting for patients. So few appeared, he gave up the practice of medicine to devote his entire time to writing about Sherlock Holmes.

Doyle had a good knowledge of medicine, was fond of people, and understood them. Why was he unsuccessful in medicine? He had all the attributes of a good physician but, according to his biographer, Hesketh Pearson, Doyle was not sufficiently observant. The author may have been aware of this deficiency when he pictured himself as the unobservant Dr. Watson. Sherlock Holmes, on the other hand, was modeled on Doyle's old teacher and idol, Dr. Joseph Bell of the Edinburgh Royal infirmary.

There is an old medical saying. "If you want to live a long time, get a chronic disease and take care of it." The London Daily Telegraph and Morning

Post carried a story recently of an 82-year-old woman who had been an invalid for 60 years. Ethel Reid was 22 years old when a stroke paralyzed one side. She was admitted to the Royal Hospital and Home for Incurables in 1899, when Victoria was queen and the Boer War had begun.

Miss Reid made an excellent adjustment, possibly because she developed an interest in reading, especially about politics. For six decades she has watched various patients and staff members come and go. In December the staff gave her a party to mark the 60th anniversary of her admission to the hospital.

Pathologists at the University of Chicago used an ingenious electric counter to measure the heart rate of three persons over a 24 hour period. While the pulse counter is attached to the chest, the subject carries on his usual activities. A log is kept by the person and/or the researcher to coordinate changes in rate with whatever the individual is doing at the time.

The average rates for the three volunteers were 65, 68, and 66 while asleep; and 88, 91, and 92 beats per minute while awake. The average count while awake varied from 70 to 110, depending upon the activity. These researchers hope to make additional measurements on many persons during work, when ill, or while undergoing physical training or taking certain treatments.

TOMORROW: Who are the smokers?
DYING FROM DYEING
E. W. writes: Is it true that

"Thank you, no," replied the man. "I'm not going all the way to Los Angeles, you see. I'm getting off at Denver."

Benson Pays Huge Storage Fees For Big Private Grain Elevators

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—If some tough government investigators ever sink their teeth into the cost of storing government farm surpluses the results will shock the public.

They will find that Secretary Ezra Taft Benson has favored the big grain elevator operators, most of them heavy backers of the GOP, and paid them rentals twice as high as it costs the government to store grain. Until recently Benson had done nothing about getting a yardstick to show what the cost of grain storage really ought to be. He just paid what the big elevator operators demanded.

Result: Benson is shelling out $1,500,000 of the taxpayers' money per day for storing surpluses, not including transportation, interest, administration, and other overhead.

Benson's cost for wheat of about 19 cents per bushel is three times that paid by his predecessor, Charlie Brannan. It's also double the cost of storing wheat on surplus government ships—10 cents per bushel.

One of the unsolved mysteries of the Benson regime is why he hasn't made more use of these idle ships. In the past a total of 100 million bushels was stored on ships in the James River, the Hudson, Puget Sound, and the Columbia River. The storage has been very successful, the grain well preserved in quality, and it costs half as much as in private elevators. Despite this, Benson has cut down on ship storage by over 50 per cent. Today only 40 million bushels are stored in government ships.

Shortly after he took office, Secretary Benson announced that he was turning grain storage over to private enterprise.

Green Light For Profit
Charlie Brannan had built private bins, had managed to keep storage costs at between 4 to 6 cents a bushel. But when Benson announced he'd build no more government bins, would turn all storage over to private industry, it was the signal to big elevator men to charge whatever the traffic would bear. And they have charged plenty.

Here is how some of them profited from storing farm surpluses:
Biggest beneficiary from surplus storage is the C-G-F Grain Company which raked in $14,787,434 in 1958 for storing wheat, grain, sorghum, and corn in its elevators in Texas, Kansas and Nebraska.

Close behind is the giant Cargill company of Minneapolis, headed by stanch Republican John H. MacMillan, which was paid $13,226,340 by Benson for storing grain in 1958, the last year for which figures are available.

Another elevator company which profited from government storage was the F. H. Peavey Company of Minneapolis, headed by Frank Peavey Heffelfinger, finance chairman of the Republican party in 1953, and husband of the Republican national committeewoman from Minnesota, Mrs. Elizabeth Heffelfinger. His company was paid $2,428,860 by Benson. He and his family contributed $3,900 to Republican organizations in 1956.

Benson, however, did not play politics. He even rewarded some of his critics. The Farmers Union has been vigorously critical of Ezra, but Bill Thatcher's Farmers Union Grain Terminal at St. Paul picked up $3,328,487 from Benson for storing wheat, soy beans, and rye in 1958.

Some of the other big firms which received big warehouse rentals were Union Equity of Enid, Okla., $6,452,587; Archer-Daniels-Midland of Minneapolis, $6,240,198; Continental Grain, with elevators in Fort Worth, Kansas City, Buffalo, Norfolk, Minneapolis, and Chicago $5,833,689.

Merry-Go-Round
Clark Clifford, Harry Truman's former counsel, says: "Secretary Benson announces that last year he traveled 547,000 miles—one mile for every farmer's who's chasing him." . . . That swank birthday party for Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois certainly made headlines. What didn't make headlines was who picked up the tab. He was Ben Regan, who rents the Senate restaurant. This nice little contract has helped Regan build up a multimillion-dollar food business around the nation, and he showed his gratitude to the man who swung it for him—Sen. Dirksen . . . President Eisenhower rushed from his airplane to the Dirksen birthday party, but didn't attract as much attention as Vice President Nixon. At one point Ike was left with only two ladies talking to him while the politicians clustered around the man they think will be the next President. ("The king is dead; long live the king!") . . . Pretty Iris Peterson of United Airlines has been conducting an effective lobby on Capitol Hill against drinking on airplanes. She has cases showing where drunk passengers have barged into the pilot's compartment and interfered with the operation of the plane. This was one reason the FAA suddenly banned private bottles—and tipplers. However, when stewardesses are busy serving drinks to drinking passengers, other passengers frequently go hungry. Meals are delayed . . . Sen. Jack Kennedy has instructed his staff not to pass out any information critical of other candidates. Wonder what will happen if he gets nominated and has to criticize Nixon? . . . Gen. Nathan Twining, who has long and ably guided the Air Force, will resign soon as Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Unwarranted Bows

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK — In the SEC's silver anniversary report to Congress and the investing public the Washington commission is taking some unwarranted bows.

In a release covering the report, the commissioners observe "the laws and their administration over the years contributed substantially to the restoration of the confidence of investors in securities and the securities markets."

The trouble with this gratuitous back-slapping and bowing is that many of the practices that brought enactment of the SEC laws are prevalent today.

Such as:
Manipulations, which in effect are pool operations in certain listed stocks. The same thing in the over-the-counter market.

Preferred lists for "hot" new issues, where the favored few get the chance at a quick profit while little investors buying at the top prices are out money.

Boiler shops, which are flourishing. Some have "mob" connections.

Flooding the market with cheap issues of questionable and doubtful value. This is more prevalent today than in 1929.

In addition there has grown up a new practice—money lending—where these modern day shysters at interest cost of two per cent or more a month finance stock deals outside the margin requirements. They also are active in financing some of these so-called real estate syndication deals.

The corporation raiders have had off and on—depending on the individual—a green light to carry on their operations. They flout the SEC's rules as to insider reports and full disclosure as to their followers, their holdings and their own holdings.

Where the SEC does act in these raids, the Washington bureau will do no more than administer a mild slap on the wrist.

Due to the laxness of the Washington office, it is possible for a raider to corner a listed stock and receive no punishment.

The SEC says it is concerned about the "boiler shop," and "mob" money and then in the same breath admits its policy of civil actions has been ineffective.

So, the SEC warns investors must be alert—but what can the small investors do when the Washington office permits—as it did in the case of the scandalous uranium issues—these cheap issues to flow almost unchecked through its hopper.

For newspapers that want the full report, the SEC says just mail a dollar to the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. We did.

Barton Fire Report Shows 36 Alarms

Calls In 1959 Set New Record

BARTON — The Barton Volunteer Fire Company answered 36 calls in 1959 according to the annual report compiled by Chief James Lamberson.

The report showed that an average of 16 men responded to each fire call making a total of 811½ man hours involved, with some 68 miles of travel recorded by the company. During the year alarms were answered as follows: January and June one each; February, May, July, and October, two each month; April and December, four each; September, six, and March, nine. There were no fire calls in August.

A breakdown of fires showed dwellings and flue fires, 12; forest and fields, 20; industrial, one; garages, two, and one Civil Defense alert. The total included 35 in the Barton fire district and one out of the district to assist another company.

Several fire drills were held during the year. Equipment purchased during the year included one smoke ejector, one electric saw, and one mobile two-way radio. The new tank truck purchased in 1959 has proved to be very successful, the report notes.

In checking the fire records back to 1940, the greatest number of fires in any one year was 20 until 1959 when 36 were recorded. This was due to an increase in grass and brush fires.

College Football Substitution Rule Is Liberalized

NCAA Group Compromises With Coaches

Single Player Can Enter Contest At Any Time Now

By WHITNEY MARTIN
MIAMI BEACH (AP) — College football rules makers loosened the substitution rule Wednesday to permit a single player to enter the game at any time.

Liberalizing the so-called "wild card" rule, the new rule makes it possible for a coach to run in one player as often as he wishes whether or not the clock is stopped.

Under the 1959 "wild card" rule, a specialist could be sent into the game at any time that time was out. The player could not be sent in as a "wild card" substitution after he had used up his allowed two re-entries a quarter, however.

Mild Compromise

The change, a mild compromise with forces seeking a return of the free substitution rule and two-platoon football, is designed to simplify the job of checking subs and to speed up the game.

The vote of the 13 eligible members was unanimous, or nearly so, said Gen. Robert R. Neyland of Tennessee, NCAA Rules Committee chairman.

The action was negative on two other rules that had been discussed at length. It was voted to keep the goal posts where they have been, 10 yards behind the goal line, and to retain the one or two-point option on conversions that was instituted two years ago.

Remainder Retained
The substitution rule in effect before Wednesday's revision allowed one "wild card," or player, to enter a game if he had not been in twice before in that period, and he only could enter if the clock was stopped.

Aside from the "one-man platoon" innovation, the remainder of the substitution rule was retained. That is, if two or more players are sent in simultaneously, they are each charged with an entry.

Nothing was done about the tedious checkoff system of recording substitutions.

Bill Welu Takes Bowling Lead

OMAHA (AP) — Defending champion Billy Welu regained the lead in the All-Star Bowling Tournament midway in Wednesday's action as he pushed his Petersen point total to 115-28.

After 6 of 16 finals rounds were completed, the St. Louis shooter had won 14 and lost 14 games while felling 5,078 pins for an average of more than 212.

Only nine pins behind Welu, former champion Bill Lillard of St. Louis was pressing the leader with a 115-19 point total.

A small matter of 14 pins separated Lillard from the third-place man, Andy Rogoznica of Chicago, who was pushed out of the lead by the Welu-Lillard combination.

Shirley Garms continued to dominate the women's division, strengthening her lead with a 213-202-415 series in the sixth round.

Betty Kuczynski, a splinter of a girl from Chicago, moved into second place on a 54-02 point accumulation.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Boxing Writers' Association has a sellout of 450 for its annual dinner Thursday night at the Waldorf-Astoria, where heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson and Utah fight-manager Marv Jensen will receive top honors.

FORT ASHBY, W. Va.—Keyser High's Golden Tornado scored its third straight basketball victory and sixth of the season here last night by turning back the Fort Ashby Eagles, 64-53, in a Potomac Valley Conference encounter.

Fort Ashby, losing its sixth game of the campaign, dropped its fourth league encounter in six starts.

Villanova Scores 10th Over Temple

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Villanova University ran its unbeaten West Virginia Tech's high scoring string to 10 games Wednesday night by defeating Temple University 81-69.

Villanova's Wildcats had to overcome a 29-point performance by the Owls' Bill Kennedy to preserve their win.

The Wildcats couldn't gather momentum as Kennedy scored half, as all bunched in the 88 of Temple's first 12 points on long point-a-game area.

Potomac State leads in team defense, giving up only 60.3 points per game. Bethany, Bluefield State over and tapped in two straight and Wesleyan are close behind, goals to put the Wildcats ahead all just giving up slightly over 18-14 with 11 minutes remaining 72 points a game.

Villanova ran its lead to 31-17 with six minutes left, and at inter-57.1 per cent. Tech is second at mission led 42-28.
Temple in the second half crept to within six points but Hubert White, who led the Wildcats with 20 points, and Jim Huggard each scored to put the Wildcats out in front for good at 53-43 with 14 minutes to be played.

Lewis To Learn Fate Today As WVU Board Meets

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The zero hour for Art Lewis comes at noon Thursday.

That's the time when the West Virginia University board of governors is to consider the recommendation that he be fired as head football coach.

His fate may lie altogether in the hands of WVU President Elvis J. Stahr Jr. The athletic council serves only as an advisory body to him. He can make whatever recommendation he sees fit to the board, which does not often go against the president.

Stahr has not made public what stand he will take — whether he will approve the council recommendation, submit one of his own, or take a hands-off attitude.

Lewis' time at WVU already exceeds by far that of any of his predecessors. He has run up a 58-38-2 record and won five Southern Conference championships. His time, insists on a monopoly for the American Football League in coach do almost invariably, when the defeats began outnumbering the victories. The team's record for the past season was 3-7.

Giants Seek Flowers From L.A. Chargers

Ask Foss To Turn Down His Contract

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Giants, oldest Eastern Division team in the National Football League, Wednesday asked Commissioner Joe Foss of the American League to refuse to recognize a contract Charley Flowers, Mississippi's All-American fullback, signed with the new pro circuit's Los Angeles Chargers.

The Giants claimed in a letter to Foss that Flowers previously had signed a contract with them.

Foss, a former Marine flying hero of World War II and ex-governor of South Dakota, wrote last week to the 12 NFL clubs and asked for mutual cooperation between the 41-year-old league and the new circuit which was to begin play in 1960. The Giants asked Foss to furnish an example of his expressed desire for cooperation between the two leagues by refusing to recognize what they termed the "illegal" contract between the Chargers and the Mississippi star.

The letter was signed by John V. Mara, president of the Giants, and Wellington T. Mara, the club's vice-president. In it, the Maras indicated Foss' criticism of NFL expansion plans is unfounded and that the AFL was making a mistake in putting franchises in Los Angeles and New York, where the NFL has clubs.

The Maras pointed out to Foss that the late Bert Bell, former NFL commissioner, testified before the House judiciary subcommittee on July 24, 1957, that "I believe we will expand in the next few years, certainly by 1960." They wrote Foss that Bell mentioned Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth, Miami, Minneapolis and Buffalo as possible sites for NFL franchises while testifying on that date.

Thus, the Maras wrote Foss, they saw "nothing inconsistent" in current NFL expansion plans.

"We do see inconsistency when your league enters teams in New York and Los Angeles, cities already served by the National Football League, but, at the same time, insists on a monopoly for the American Football League in other cities."

The Maras told Foss it is "our opinion that every city is a 'one-team city.'"

"We have learned this from the bitter experience of 35 years of professional football — and it is the conclusion anyone may reach who examines the records," the Giants told Foss. "Not enemies of the competing teams, but the sports fans of the nation, have written this record and, as a matter of fact, are still writing it to this day in Chicago."

The NFL has two Chicago clubs, the Bears and the Cardinals. The latter team long has been a weak link in the league because of poor attendance.

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Syracuse's national college football champions, who scored 413 points in an 11-0 season that included a Cotton Bowl victory, Wednesday were named Team of the Year for 1959 in the annual Associated Press Poll.

The Orange from upstate New York edged Baltimore's National Football League titleholders and the Los Angeles Dodgers, World Series winners, in the balloting by 114 sportswriters and broadcasters.

Syracuse received 153 points on a basis of three for a first place vote, two for second and one for third. Coach Ben Schwartzwalder's powerful eleven collected 36 first place votes. The Colts were next with 132 points and 34 first, followed by the Dodgers with 126 points and 22 firsts.

Others receiving first place votes were the Boston Celtics, champs of the National Basketball Assn., 8; the Chicago White Sox, American League pennant winners, 6; California, NCAA basketball champion, Montreal's Stanley Cup hockey champions, and the Mississippi football team, 2 each, and the Harlem Globetrotters and St. Louis' NCAA soccer team, 1 each.

Syracuse, which put the East back on the football map, had trouble only with Penn State, finally defeating the Nittany Lions by two points. In the New Year's Day Cotton Bowl, the Orange beat Texas 23-14. In winning the national title, Syracuse shattered five major statistical records — scoring (39 point average), total yardage (451.5), rushing (316.6), total defense (92.6 yards) and resistance against rushing (19.3 yards).

Kuharich Says Change Needed

Substitution Rule "Hurting Game"

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI) — Notre Dame football coach Joe Kuharich said Wednesday that the NCAA's refusal to sanction platoon substitutions for 1960 was a "shortsighted action."

Kuharich, an outspoken advocate of unlimited substitution, commented after the National Collegiate Athletic Association's football rules committee voted to liberalize the rules for next season by giving coaches a wider use of the "wild card" substitute.

"I personally feel that you are hurting the game by not allowing unlimited substitution," Kuharich said. "It is shortsighted of the rules committee not to make the move now. Eventually it has to come. It's inevitable."

Kuharich said he was unable to understand where the opposition to platoon football was coming from.

"The fans want it, the coaches want it, the players want it," he said. "Who is opposed to it is what I would like to know."

Nugent Favors Rules Change

Substitution Shift Is "Great News"

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Coach Tom Nugent of Maryland said Wednesday the new NCAA football substitution rule "is great news."

Nugent, longtime devotee of the wide-open style of football, said he was delighted with the new rule, which would allow one player at a time to enter the game on an unlimited basis.

Under the old rule players could enter the game as a group only twice in one quarter without having a time-out charged to their team. Any other player could enter the game when the clock was stopped but could do this only twice within one quarter.

The new rule, as Nugent sees it, is "wonderful because it makes our game a little more like the game played by the pros, and I'm in favor of any rule that does that."

The Maryland coach, noting that the new rule also makes it possible to send in a player with a play from the bench whenever the coach desires, said he was also pleased by this feature.

"The unlimited (two-platoon) substitution rule would be even better," he said, "but this is a good compromise and I'm surprised the committee went that far."

St. Patrick's Needs Win Tonight To Cop CYO 1st Half Crown

Victorious in their last five outings and leading the league by two games with a 7-1 record and only two more games to play, St. Patrick's floormen can sew up the first half crown in the Catholic Youth Basketball league if they defeat St. Peter's of Westernport tonight in the opening game of a twin bill on SS. Peter and Paul court at 7 p.m.

Mt. Savage will play SS. Peter and Paul in the second game at 8 p.m.

St. Mary's Gaels (5-3), occupants of second place, entertain St. Michael's of Frostburg at 7:30 p.m., on the Oldtown Road court.

Conerly Gets Club Award

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charley Conerly Wednesday gave the New York Giants a sweep of the Washington Touchdown Club's pro football awards. The club named him Outstanding Player of 1959 in the National Football League.

Time was of the essence in the defense of today's hand. If East does not attack the right suit at the earliest possible moment, declarer will get off to a lead which cannot be overcome with any subsequent amount of speed by defenders.

South's opening was somewhat on the shaded side, but with a good rebiddable suit to work with he preferred to enter the action early. North, holding 14 points in support of spades, made the natural jump to three spades, forcing South to game.

West opened the queen of hearts and East won with the ace. A hasty appraisal of the defensive assets seemed to reveal that there were but three tricks available to East and West, a heart and two clubs. If the contract were to be defeated, they must develop a trick in either spades or diamonds. The spade suit is a forlorn hope, for almost surely declarer holds ace-king, in addition to the king of hearts which is now known to have. If, as is probable, declarer also holds the king of diamonds, all hope for the defeat of the contract may as well be abandoned. But, if South has opened some very light hand not containing the king of diamonds, defenders could still cling to a hope of survival, provided declarer had at least three diamonds, for then a diamond trick could be developed before dummy's clubs were established.

East accordingly returned the deuce of diamonds, and West's king forced dummy's ace. Declarer drew trumps and began establishment of the clubs by playing the jack of clubs. East won with the king and returned the jack of diamonds, forcing dummy's queen and setting up a fourth defensive winner in the nick of time. A moment's delay in attacking the diamond suit would have given declarer the jump on the hand, for dummy's club would have been established in time to avoid any diamond losers.

Ann Landers ... Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: These are the facts: I married Brad two years ago. He said he was college educated, a hero in the Korean war and spent 20 months in a veteran's hospital. He claims he received a citation for an injury suffered while dragging a body to safety under heavy fire. His parents are dead, but he says they left him a large estate which he can't get at because a crooked lawyer burned the will. He also claims he is the illegitimate grandson of George Zhukov. Last night his billfold was on the dresser and I wanted to surprise him with a new picture of myself. I noticed his army classification card under my old picture when I went to remove it. I wasn't snooping, Ann, but I couldn't help but notice it said

It also stated he was born in 1926 which means he is 34 and not 29 as he had led me to believe. I am so upset I don't know what to do. He is very sensitive and gets angry when

Safe Crackers Hit Grantsville Legion Home

Intruders Escape With $680 In Loot

Safe crackers broke into the Grantsville Legion home early yesterday and escaped with about $680.

Maryland State Police said the home of Grantsville Legion Post No. 214 was entered between midnight and daybreak.

The intruders forced a large safe in the office of the post home and took $650 from the interior.

Trooper First Class Milton G. Hart, who is investigating with Tfc. Glen D. Folk, said the intruders used a crowbar to break off the dial of the safe, and then took the contents after punching out the dial mechanism.

The intruders also broke into a bowling machine and juke box and took an estimated $30 from the machines.

Entrance, Trooper Hart said, was gained by using a bar to force the back door of the post home. The bar was also used to force the door of the office in which the safe was kept.

It was the second major robbery in this area this week.

West Virginia State Police at Romney are investigating a breaking and entering at the Veterans of Foreign Wars home there Sunday.

The intruders removed a large safe from the building and escaped with loot estimated at $458.

MSP Training Session Will Be Held Today

Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney and Patrolman Charles Cabbage will represent the Cumberland Police Department at a meeting called today in Pikeville by the Maryland State Police.

The session, which begins at 9:30 a. m., was called to give MSP an idea of the type of training needed by police agencies throughout the state.

State Police officials will open the meeting by outlining the facilities the agency has available. They then will ask officials of the law enforcement agencies for suggestions on the type of training they need most.

Police Commissioner Philmore Fleming will be unable to attend due to the press of business. He said the department will undoubtedly take advantage of the training classes and that graduates will pass the information along to other members of the department.

After the training session, there will be a discussion on uniform traffic tickets.

The Montgomery County Police Department, MSP officials said, have been using a form which has won acceptance by state officials. There is a general feeling, they said, that such a form should be considered for state-wide use.

High Court Gets Land Dispute

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Paul and Josephine Branson Wednesday asked the State Supreme Court to force the South Cumberland Planning Mill Co., Mineral County to give them a property deed that would include a certain road and spring.

The couple said that in 1955 the company agreed to sell them some land in Mineral County. Three years later the company submitted a deed but it did not include the road or spring, they said.

March Of Dimes Ahead Of Last Year

With the 1960 March of Dimes running well ahead of last year in mail returns, Rusty Haines, three-year-old polio victim who is helping to point up the January campaign, is shown above meeting with the Allegany County Commissioners to get the county-wide drive officially on its way. Seated, left to right, are Commissioners William A. Wilson and John J. Rowan; standing, same order, are MOD County Chairman Hugh A. McMullen and Commissioner John T. Mason. Rusty is one of forty crippled children treated through the Allegany County Chapter of the National Foundation during the past year.

Marine Reserve Unit To Train At Parris Island

The 43rd Rifle Company, Marine Corps Reserve, has been notified of its summer training dates, according to Capt. Billy C. Menges, commanding officer.

Capt. Menges said the local unit will undergo its annual two weeks of training July 11-21 at the Marine Corps Recruit Training Depot at Parris Island, S. C.

Former Marines in the area who are not members of an organized Marine Corps Reserve unit and who would like information on attending this year's training may contact the Marine Training Center on McKaig's Hill, or call PA 2-1404.

Tax Appeal Case Deferred

A hearing before the State Tax Court on the appeal case of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company on its state real estate assessment has been postponed indefinitely, according to The Associated Press in Baltimore.

The AP advised the hearing has been postponed indefinitely "for purposes of negotiation."

The hearing on the appeal began November 24 and was postponed until yesterday.

The tax commission assessed the plant for $12,085,550. This would bring in about $15,600 in state taxes.

The assessment has no effect here as the plant was granted a 10-year exemption on county taxes.

Empty Mail Bag Ruined By Fire

An empty mail bag in a large mail box in front of 323 North Centre Street was damaged by fire last night, and city firemen presume the blaze was caused by someone who carelessly tossed a lit cigarette into the mail box.

A city police officer passing by in a cruiser noticed smoke coming from the mail box and notified police headquarters. They in turn called firemen at Central Station at 9:24 p.m.

A Post Office employee was summoned to open the box. Fortunately, no mail was in the mail bag, which was ruined by the fire.

Underwood Opens Tax Package For Legislature

Plan To Put People To Work Meets With Initial Favorable Reaction

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Gov. Cecil Underwood, his Republican administration caught in the swirl of economic distress, faced the new Democratic Legislature Wednesday with a tax package aimed at putting people to work immediately.

His reception generally was friendly. House Speaker Harry R. Pauley, who himself wants to succeed to Underwood's job, told newsmen it was a program he could support although it was for the most part adding patchwork on the state's jerry-built tax structure.

Pauley, one of four candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor, comes from the coal-mining county of McDowell, one of the many southern West Virginia counties where men have been displaced from the mines by machines.

Underwood outlined a program which he said would mean "a total of more than 21 million dollars in combination of work opportunity, tax relief and a sound investment in the future of West Virginia."

Put 4,000 To Work

His program, he said, would put no less than 4,000 men to work immediately in state forests and parks at subsistence, not counting others who would be employed on secondary road work. Estimates of the state's jobless have ranged between 50,000 and 70,000.

As a means of realigning the consumers' sales tax to soften its impact on the lowest wage groups, Underwood asked that the rate be raised from 2 to 3 per cent, and that food for home consumption be exempted altogether from the levy.

Explaining that nine million dollars annually would be lost by the food exemption, Underwood said the higher rate not only would offset that loss but help the treasury with an additional 1½ million dollars.

5-Point Program

The governor spelled out a five-point program to raise $7,400,000, including $1,500,000 from higher consumers' sales taxes. One would be a 5 per cent boost in the price of merchandise at state liquor stores; and the others would involve higher rates in specified fields of taxation.

The governor suggested an additional course to the Legislature which he said would provide 4½ million dollars for immediate use on the secondary road system.

The 1959 Legislature raised the gasoline tax from 6 to 7 cents a gallon and earmarked the extra penny for matching money in the interstate highway system.

"This special revenue account is presently accumulating a state money more rapidly than federal interstate money is available to match," Underwood said.

More For Roads

He asked that the restriction be lifted. He said this would make 2½ millions available for work on secondary roads, and another 2 million would come from raising the privilege tax on auto purchases from 2 to 3 per cent. The privilege tax boost is part of the five-point program.

As for getting more people to work, Underwood outlined his proposals under a plan which he called the state temporary economic program.

The step contemplates forest improvements including fire control measures, road and trail construction, additional nursery facilities and game restoration; stream improvements; expansion of the state park system; reclamation of stripped mine areas, and creation of exhibition coal mines as tourist attractions.

Underwood asked the Legislature for $250,000 for establishment of area vocational education programs.

He also advocated that $500,000 be added to the State Police appropriation to expand the present force of 279 men to the full strength of 357.

Two Escapees Are Held For Grand Jury

Youths Took Pickup Truck

Two 16-year-old escapees from the New Germany Forestry Camp for Boys who were recaptured last week in Pennsylvania in a bullet-riddled pickup truck after eluding police of two states, are being held for action of the March term of the grand jury of Garrett County.

Robert McFadden, city, and Donald Hackey, Frederick, who escaped from a work detail January 6 and were recaptured early the following day, are being charged with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Yesterday afternoon they were taken before Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley in Juvenile Court at Oakland. Judge Fraley waived jurisdiction of juvenile court and ordered the two youths held for grand jury action. They were remanded to the Garrett County jail in Oakland.

Also present at the hearing yesterday were Tfc. Donald R. Wade of the State Police at LaVale, who went to Pennsylvania to bring the two youths back to Maryland, and William Fauth, assistant supervisor of the forestry camp.

Last week, attempting to elude capture, the young pair forced one Pennsylvania trooper's car off the road. Their flight was halted only after several warning shots were fired by another trooper into the cab of the stolen vehicle they were operating.

The pickup truck was stolen from Henry J. Hummel of Star Route, Frostburg, who gave chase in his car in an attempt to catch them. He told police he had fired five shots from a rifle in an attempt to stop them.

Maryland State Police who joined in the chase lost the two boys in the Springs, Pa., area where they turned off onto mountain roads. Pennsylvania State Police finally caught up with them near Ursina, Pa., and they were taken to Somerset County jail.
